Scholars of the subject tend to claim that science fiction's "Golden Age" dates to John W. Campbell's 1937 assumption of the editorship of the pulp magazine Astounding. If you think about it this type of thing is pretty common- especially if you were to look at movies from the 1970s and 80s and how they were inspired by films from the 1950s. This fast-paced super hero drama follows the high-speed adventures of Barry Allen, an everyday guy with the desire to help others. When an unexpected particle accelerator accident strikes Barry, he finds himself suddenly charged with the incredible power to move at super speeds. Never Cry Werewolf is a Canadian television film directed by Brenton Spencer, and starring Nina Dobrev, Peter Stebbings and Kevin Sorbo. It premiered on the Sci Fi Channel on May 11, 2008.
