Economic conditions are constantly changing, and each generation looks at its own problems in its own way. Professor Antonovics received her B.A. from Brown University in 1993 and her Ph.D. in economics from the University of Wisconsin in 2000. Shortly thereafter, she joined the faculty in the Economics Department at the University of California, San Diego, where she has been ever since. The Smarter Lunchrooms National Office has identified 6 principles of behavioral economics that can be applied to the school lunchroom. The principles address environmental cues that influence eating behavior.
