Special Systems Theory is a Mathematical Systems Theory concerning the necessary conditions for the possibility of anomalous phenomena like Life, Consciousness and Sociality which exist but are unexplained inadequately by contemporary scientific theory. As this is also a personal responsibility, whatever risks I shall run I should like to attempt a moment's reflection on the Marxist concept of contradiction, in respect to a particular example: the Leninist theme of the 'weakest link'. Contemporary Metaphilosophy. What is philosophy? What is philosophy for? How should philosophy be done? These are metaphilosophical questions, metaphilosophy being the study of the nature of philosophy. Why Historical Distance is not a Problem. MARK BEVIR. History and Theory, Theme Issue 50 (December 2011), 24-37. This essay argues that concerns about historical distance arose along with modernist historicism, and they disappear with postfoundationalism.
