The schism between the Western and Eastern Mediterranean Christians resulted from a variety of political, cultural and theological factors which transpired over centuries. Historians regard the mutual excommunications of 1054 as the terminal event. It is difficult to agree on an exact date for the event where the start of the schism was ...PART 2. This second installment of our response to Milwaukee-based attorney John Salza's critiques of sedevacantism will focus on Mr. Salza's second article, "Sedevacantism and the Sin of Presumption," published in April of 2011 in Catholic Family News. The history of Christianity concerns the Christian religion, Christendom, and the Church with its various denominations, from the 1st century to the present. NOTE: Latin is the official language of the Roman Catholic Church. Church Documents are usually published first in Latin, and then translated from the Latin into other languages.
